CALL NAVY MEN IN SENATE SHEARER PROBE

WHOLE AMERICAN NAVAL BODY AT GENEVA TO TESTIFY

SHEARER SPREAD ABOUT IMPRESSION HE WAS GREAT POWER AT CONFERENCE

CALLED HIMSELF THE BASS DRUM, HAD EXPENSIVE APARTMENT

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 27. — The whole American naval delegation at the Geneva disarmament conference will be called before the senate investigating committee next week for questioning about whether they associated with William B. Shearer, naval propagandist, members of the committee said today.

The decision to summon the navy men was made because of the testimony of Drew Pearson, Washington newspaperman, that he heard Admiral J. M. Reeves several times express hope for an unsuccessful termination of the disarmament conference and that some of the others expressed similar views.

Those who will be called if they can be reached included:

Captains Arthur J. Hepburne, Adolphus Andrews, and W. W. Smyth.

Commanders H. H. Frost and H. C. Train.

The committee also has decided to communicate with Scotland Yard, the famous British secret service headquarters, to see if it has any information concerning Pearson's testimony that he saw what purported to be a Scotland Yard record of Shearer.

Pearson said he saw the record in the Geneva hotel room of A. L. Johnson, another newspaperman and that Shearer later told him in Washington that Shearer had taken the record from Johnson "because it is all bunk."

Shearer himself will be asked first about these two new developments in the disarmament lobby inquiry when he takes the stand as the next witness Monday. The committee is in recess until then. Shearer has sat impatiently behind the witnesses who have trooped before the committee to the witness chair during the last week and several times has been restrained from speaking his mind by his counsel, Judge Cohalan of New York, who sits beside him.

Shearer's story is the long delayed climax of the inquiry and while it will now be necessary to hear the naval officers, the hearing is expected to close shortly afterward to make way for a broader inquiry into the whole subject of lobbying.

Suggestions have been made in both the senate and the house looking toward a joint investigation of the lobbying subject. As the house is not ready to transact general business and the tariff bill is the pressing unfinished business of the senate, action to authorize the inquiry may be delayed for several weeks.

A recommendation for it may be included in the report of the Shearer committee in view of the broad scope of lobbying activities among the shipbuilders uncovered in evidence concerning the Shearer case.

Pearson offered the committee unusually frank testimony concerning his impressions of Shearer's activities at Geneva. He said he saw naval officers talking with Shearer in hotel lobbies frequently and that Shearer gave the impression he was a power at Geneva.

Shearer called himself the bass drum and made no secret of his efforts to break down the conference, Pearson said. He said Shearer maintained an expensive apartment and entertained lavishly.

Newspapermen at Geneva, he said, gained the impression Shearer was working for the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company, an organization known, he thought, as the Native Sons of California and other American societies personally, but was told Shearer gave the impression to other newspapermen.

TRUNK HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION

Trunk highways throughout Minnesota are in good condition, with a few exceptions, according to the weekly road report issued by the State Highway department today. Local rains and fall work have left a few stretches only fair or poor, but most of these will be restored to good condition in a few days.

Where new pavements have been opened, shoulders are still soft and in some cases shoulder work is still in progress and motorists are urged to use caution.

T. H. No. 2.—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—260 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, good—Brainerd, fair—Motley, good—Hawley, paved—Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—103 miles—Good.

T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake—93 miles—Good.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—62 miles—Paved.

Earthquakes, Tidal Waves Predicted for Hawaii

600,000 ACRE RED LAKE GAME REFUGE ASSURED

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—The last legal barrier to creation of the 600,000 acre Red Lake game refuge in northern Minnesota was hurdled today when the state supreme court for the second time ruled constitutional the law creating the preserve.

The state auditor's office announced action will be started immediately to pay off the first of the ditch bonds amounting to some $300,000. When the ditch bonds are paid the land, which lies in Beltrami, Lake of the Woods and Koochiching counties, will be turned over to the state.

The 1929 legislature authorized issuance of $2,500,000 in tax certificates to pay the bonds.

The supreme court previously had declared the law constitutional but ordered a rehearing to secure definite decision on all points of law involved before expending the money.

ROCK ISLAND PASSENGER TRAIN IS DERAILED

ACCIDENT NEAR CLAY CENTER, KANSAS, NO PERSONS WERE KILLED

9 PASSENGERS TAKEN TO HOSPITALS, OTHERS SUFFER SHOCKS, CUTS, BRUISES

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Rock Island passenger train No. 224, carrying passengers east from Omaha and Denver, was derailed early today three miles west of Clay Center, Kansas, Rock Island dispatchers here were notified.

No persons were killed. Nine passengers were taken to hospitals and others suffered shock, cuts and bruises.

A passenger coach and a Pullman of the train, due in Clay Center at 1 A. M., piled up in the ditch after leaving the rails. Spreading rails were blamed for the accident.

Most of those in the hospital are expected to recover, as a majority are suffering from bruises and sprains caused by the violent shocks suffered when the cars went into the ditch.

HEAD FOR DESTINATION FLIERS KEPT SECRET TO THE VERY LAST

LATER REPORTED FLIGHT WILL BE IN DIRECTION OF SIBERIA AND TOKIO

Paris, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—The airplane Question Mark, manned by Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, rose in the morning fog which hung over LeBourget airport today and headed for a destination which the fliers kept secret to the very last.

They took off at 8:16 A. M. (2:16 A. M. EST) and a few minutes after their departure the commander of the airport announced officially that the flight would be in the direction of Siberia and Tokio. He failed to state the exact destination, however.

For a while speculation had been rife here as to whether the star fliers would go to the far east or make another attempt to reach the United States. It was recalled Coste and Bellonte in July tried to cross the Atlantic from Paris to New York, but turned back after reaching the Azores Islands zone because of strong headwinds.

ALBERT B. FALL GOES TO WASHINGTON TO APPEAR IN TRIAL

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—After a parting "I'm not guilty and I'm positive no jury will consider me so," Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, was on his way by train today to Washington, D. C., where he will go to trial on charges growing out of the leasing of naval oil reserves while he was in the cabinet.

Members of his family and friends went to the railroad station to see him off last night. He looked tired and weak.

Mrs. Fall, who accompanied her husband, as the train pulled out, sobbed, "If he's guilty, I'm guilty. I've stood through everything with him and I will stand by him until he is declared innocent."

Premier MacDonald Completes Last Minute Preparations for Voyage to United States

OBJECT IS TO CEMENT ANGLO AMERICAN AMITY

TO BETTER RELATIONS BY PERSONAL CONTACT WITH PRES. DEN THOOVER

HOLDS A FINAL CONFERENCE WITH STANLEY BALDWIN, CONSERVATIVE LEADER

London, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald completed last-minute preparations today for his momentous voyage, starting Saturday to the United States, during which he will endeavor to cement Anglo-American relations by personal contact with President Hoover.

One of his final conferences was with Stanley Baldwin, the conservative leader, whom MacDonald succeeded as premier at No. 10 Downing Street. It was described as a "courtesy call."

London, Sept. 27.—In the first statement granted by her to any newspaper or press association with reference to her trip to the United States which starts tomorrow, Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, gave the United Press today the following message for America:

"Miss MacDonald is looking forward to visiting America again. She remembers so well the true friendship and generous hospitality of the Americans during her last visit when her father was taken ill. Yet it is not illness that she associates with America but the overwhelming kindness which prevented her from feeling far from home during the anxious time.

"She is sorry she will not have long in either the United States or Canada. Her only regret is that her stay will not be so long as her very enjoyable holiday in Canada last year."

During the ceremonies at the popular town hall yesterday when she was presented with a bronze table and electric reading lamp by the poor of the district, Miss MacDonald had occasion to refer to her trip to America.

"I cannot do much directly to bring about international understanding and peace," she said. "I am not going as a delegate or to take part in the conference, but I shall take the opportunity while there to make men and women in the United States and Canada realize how very deeply we women in Britain feel about international understanding."

London, Sept. 27.—Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald, starting on his mission of good-will to Washington, stressed the broad international scope of his errand at Victoria Station bound for Southampton.

He told the press:

"I do not, as I have already said, expect my stay in Washington, to lead to spectacular developments as a result of continued negotiations. One reason for this is that the current negotiations on naval disarmament have been carried so far that they have now to be brought to a wider international stage."

JOHNNIE HILL DIES SUDDENLY

BRITISH FLYWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPION WAS TO FIGHT GENARO NEXT MONTH

Strathmiglo, Fifeshire, Scotland, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Johnnie Hill, 23, British flyweight boxing champion, died here suddenly today.

Hill was matched to meet Frankie Genaro, American boxer, for the world's title in Albert Hall, London, next month.

Hill contracted a cold on Monday, and improved so well that his physicians permitted him to go outdoors yesterday. Last night he suffered a severe relapse, and suffered a broken blood vessel in his lung. He died at 6 A. M.

RAINS KILL ALL DANGER FROM PEAT BOG FIRES

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Intermittent rains over the past 36 hours today had removed all danger from peat blazes and completely quenched the forest fires that swept more than 250,000 acres of northern Minnesota timber and brush lands, according to reports reaching here today.

The cool cloudy weather today was described as ideal for fighting the few peat fires still smoldering.

GOLIATH, ONLY SEA ELEPHANT IN CAPTIVITY, DIES

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Goliath, the only sea elephant in captivity, no longer will frighten children with his roars as a stellar attraction of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Baily circus. He is dead.

Even in death, however, the 7,000-pound big brother to the seal will attract crowds, for his skin will be mounted in the main hall of the Field museum here.

BARREN WASTES STILL CONCEAL FATE OF PARTY

DARING AIRMEN PUSH FARTHER INTO THE SUB-ARCTIC REGIONS

SEARCH FOR 2 LOST PLANES OF PRESIDENT OF DOMINION EXPLORERS

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 27. — (U.P.) — Barren wastes of the northwest territories still concealed the fate of Col. C. D. H. McAlpine and his seven companions today as daring airmen pushed farther into the sub-Arctic in an endeavor to retrace the trail taken by the two lost planes of the president of the Dominion explorers.

Disappearance of the party while on a 2,000 mile flight from Coronation Gulf to Aklavik 16 days ago has brought about the most extensive and most dangerous aerial search ever attempted in Canada.

The only important development so far has been the receipt of an unintelligible message from a radio station at Bathurst Inlet, where McAlpine was long overdue. The fact that the isolated station was attempting to send an urgent message aroused hope that something had been learned of the missing men. Further efforts to establish communication were being made today by the Churchill, Man., station.

NEW YORK PAYS FINAL TRIBUTE TO MILLER HUGGINS

FUNERAL RITES AT THE LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNER THIS AFTERNOON

New York, Sept. 27.—(U.P.) — New York paid its final tribute to Miller Huggins today.

From early morning an endless line of people filed past the simple casket in the mortuary chapel of the Little Church Around the Corner for a last glimpse of the tiny baseball manager who died at St. Vincent's hospital on Wednesday.

Funeral services were to be held at 2 P. M. today in the historic little church that nestles in a group of mid-town skyscrapers between Madison and Fifth Avenues.

The entire Yankees team returned here today from Washington to attend the services, accompanied by representatives of the team they were to have played this afternoon. All American League games of the day were cancelled.

Arthur Huggins, a brother who was at the bedside when Miller died; his wife and Miss Muriel Huggins, the sister with whom the manager lived in this city, were the only relatives here for the funeral.

Clarence Huggins, a second brother, was en route from his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., to Cincinnati, where the body was to be taken for burial after today's services.

During the funeral, it was planned to drape the casket with the world's championship flag which the Yankees won last year when they beat St. Louis four straight games in the world series.

FLORIDA STILL WAITING FOR ITS THIRD HURRICANE

METEOROLOGISTS UNCERTAIN AS TO WHAT COURSE THE STORM WILL TAKE

HURRICANE PRACTICALLY STATIONARY BETWEEN MIAMI AND BAHAMAS

Miami, Fla., Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Florida was still waiting today for its third tropical hurricane in the past four years with meteorologists on the lower east coast rather uncertain as to what course the storm would take.

The hurricane has remained practically stationary between Miami and the Bahamas for many hours past.

From up and down the Florida coast have come reports that everything appears to be normal. The people have taken every possible precautionary measure. Houses and windows are boarded up and children in several cities on the east coast have been dismissed from school.

Along the lower east coast fear was diminishing today, and many hurricane flags had been removed. The business of the day went on without interruption, in many cases behind boarded windows.

R. W. Gray, United States weather observer here, said he has located the storm about 100 miles east and somewhat south of Miami.

Silence continued to shroud the Bahama Islands, Nassau having been cut off all communication with Florida for more than 24 hours.

Miami was calmer today, most of the farmers and residents of the nearby countryside who had flocked to the city when the storm threatened, had returned to their homes, on Gray's assurance that the district is in no immediate danger.

On the other hand, apprehension in Key West, southernmost city of Florida, was reported on the increase. Caravans of country residents were reported entering the city all night, travelers arriving in Key West from the north reported a slight wind across the Florida Keys.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 27.—A radio report from Bimini, westernmost island of the Bahama group, was picked up today by Tropical Radio here and said a 50-mile wind was sweeping the island and the barometer was falling fast.

CESARE RISSI FOUND GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

Rome, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Cesare Rossi, former chief of Premier Mussolini's press bureau and once a powerful figure in the fascist ranks, was found guilty of conspiracy against the present Italian regime today and sentenced to 30 years imprisonment.

Rossi's trial before the special military tribunal in defense of the state lasted only about three hours during which the former printer was variously charged with inciting movements against the government and plotting the life of his former friend, Premier Mussolini.

France Holds Key Position in the 18th Bennett Balloon Race

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—France holds the key position in the eighteenth James Gordon Bennett balloon race which will get under way here tomorrow. George Blanchet, representing the French Aero club, obtained the coveted number nine place in a lottery conducted at a Chamber of Commerce banquet here last night.

Number nine at the take-off is considered lucky due to the air sailors' superstition that "the last shall be first."

Cash awards totalling $3,500 will be divided among the nine pilots at the end of the race and additional prizes will be available if the world long distance balloon flight record of 1,334 miles, set in 1912 by M. Bienaime of France, is broken.

MISSING ST. PAUL TO IOWA AIR RACERS FOUND

STORMY WEATHER MADE CONTINUANCE OF FLIGHT TO SHELDON HAZARDOUS

Fairmont, Minn., Sept. 27.—(U.P.) — An anxious search for Ira Packard and Marcus Day, missing St. Paul-to-Sheldon, Iowa, air racers, was ended today when it was learned the fliers landed safely here shortly after their take-off from St. Paul but had neglected to report to race officials.

Stormy weather, the fliers said, made a continuation of the flight hazardous and they decided to stop here for a visit with Day's parents.

Packard and Day with three other entrants took off from St. Paul at 10:33 A. M. Thursday to participate in the dedication of the Sheldon airport. Two planes reached their destination inside of two hours while the third was forced down by storms and abandoned the race which was won by Thorwald (Thunder) Johnson.

MINNESOTA TAX COMMISSION IN SPECIAL HEARINGS

J. P. WATKINS CO. OF WINONA APPLIES FOR REDUCTION OF $1,300,000 OCT. 2

ALL MINNESOTA BANKS MAY PRESENT ARGUMENTS ON OCTOBER 5

The first case to be heard is that of the J. P. Watkins Company of Winona, which will be considered Oct. 2. The Watkins Company has applied for a reduction of nearly $1,300,000 in its assessments.

All Minnesota banks will be given an opportunity to present arguments on Oct. 5 as to why their assessed values should be increased or decreased. Power and light companies will be given a hearing Oct. 4 and mining companies will be heard Oct. 8.

As a result of discovery of new ore bodies and opening of new operations in the past year, several northern Minnesota mining companies are expected to apply for reductions.

SHIPPING IS WARNED TO PREPARE FOR SAME

TIDAL WAVES EXPECTED TO BE AS SEVERE AS THOSE IN 1868

HILO OFFICIALS HOPE TO CONTROL LAVA FLOW WITH DYNAMITE

Hilo, T. H. Sept. 27.—(U.P.) — Earthquakes more violent than those which occurred Wednesday and tidal waves were predicted by Dr. Thomas Jaggar, of the volcano observatory here today.

Persons living in houses "poorly constructed" or in which the masonry has rotted, were urged to sleep elsewhere until the crisis is passed.

Shipping also has been warned to be in readiness for tidal waves such as occurred in 1868 in the event of severe shocks and eruptions at Haualalai crater.

Meantime preparations were being made to control flow of molten lava by dynamite blasts should the eruption occur.

LOUGHRAN IS FINISHED WITHIN 8 MINUTES OF HIS ENTRANCE INTO THE RING

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 27.—A right hand punch to the jaw has ended any and all contention as to who is the outstanding American contender for the world's heavyweight championship.

Jack Sharkey of Boston is the man.

In the presence of some 35,000 spectators at Yankee Stadium last night Sharkey effectively disposed of the pretentions of Tommy Loughran by knocking out the Philadelphian in the third round.

Smashed to the floor by a right hand, Loughran reeled to his feet at the count of four, dazed and wobbly. He was unable to face the opponent who sprinted from a neutral corner to deliver the finishing punch. He could only stagger into another corner against the ropes, unable to turn or raise his hands.

The widely advertised fight for the heavyweight championship of the United States was over.

Loughran had claimed that upon entering the heavyweight ranks he would finish Sharkey in short order. As it turned out, he was finished himself within eight minutes of his entrance into the ring at the crowded ball park up in the Bronx.

Jack Sharkey is one of the great modern heavyweights, and it happened last night he fought his real fight. Against that kind of a Sharkey, the game Philadelphian had no chance.

The first round was about even, since they sparred and jabbed, and at that kind of a game Loughran can hold his own with anyone. The second round served to demonstrate Sharkey's superiority, since he punched his man around the ring. The third round spelled the finish. It was over so quickly that Loughran adherbreath. Sharkey rushed Loughrans scarcely had time to catch their across the ring. Suddenly a right hand crashed to Tommy's face; Sharkey thought it landed high, between the eyes; Loughran doesn't know yet where it landed. But the important thing is that it finished Tommy Loughran. All the ideas the Philadelphian may have entertained of being heavyweight champion must have gone out with the lights which twinkled when Sharkey smacked him.

Sharkey drove home that one right hand punch and then trotted to his corner. He was in a fighting mood, but he had sense enough to obey the instructions of the referee.

Loughran was beaten, not only fairly, but decisively.

Tom Heeney, the last man to face Gene Tunney in the ring, was lucky to win a decision over George Hoffman, the former amateur heavyweight champion, in a ten-round preliminary, in which the youngster outfought the veteran almost from the start.

Washington, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—Treasury net balance on Sept. 25 was $408,077,205.28. Customs receipts for the month to the same date totalled $41,343,633.27.

NORTHFIELD WINS FIRST

Five Clubs Compete for Honors in State Wide Sing Competition Last Evening

The Brainerd Choral club returned home this morning from Minneapolis where they won second place in the state choral contest which was a feature of the annual meeting of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs.

The contest was held at the Central Lutheran church, Minneapolis, five clubs competing being from Northfield, Brainerd, Pine City, Fairmont and Albert Lea.

Miss Effie Drexler, director of the Brainerd Choral club lauded the performance of the Northfield group.

"It was a pleasure to hear them," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bush Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bush entertained several of their friends at their home, 907 Fir street last evening. The evening was spent in playing cards. A luncheon was served.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gulden, Miss Jetty Oien, C. D. Olson, Roy Sakaris and Charles Cluff.

"Simba"

The most thrilling moment in "Simba," the big game hunting motion picture made in Africa by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, which closes its run at the Lyceum theatre tonight, is that which shows the naked blacks of the Lumbwa tribe, armed only with spears and shields, attacking and killing full grown lions. It seems incredible that the king of beasts could be slain by such simple weapons, but the camera shows exactly how it is done, and the scene keeps spectators on the edges of their seats.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST RADIO VALUE

MIGHTY MONARCH OF THE AIR

The NEW and MIGHTIER

Majestic

And Now the People of Brainerd Will Soon Agree On Who Will Be

Miss Majestic

Every five [5] seconds somebody buys a

Majestic

SIX THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED (6,500) Majestic radios are made every working day—or at the rate of ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-NINE THOUSAND (169,000) monthly. Each day's output is boxed and placed, not in a warehouse, but in waiting trains in Majestic's great private switchyards.

Majestic began the production of radio in July, 1928, less than fourteen months ago, in the face of the best-organized competition that perhaps a human being ever encountered. Within thirteen months they have made and sold ONE MILLION complete radios, every part of which was made in their plants.

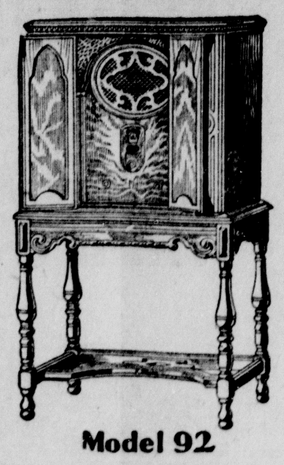

There's no luck, nothing "happen-so" about Majestic success. Majestic is great because it deserves to be great.

The Majestic story has a moral: You must give the public what the PUBLIC WANTS. You'll need to promise certain things and live up to those promises to the letter. If you intend to do more business than any one else in your line, you must give MORE VALUE, or a "desirable something" in a greater measure.

Therefore, it follows, that, if Majestic is the largest manufacturer of complete radios in the world, and has worked from last place to first place in less than thirteen months, THEN the Majestic radio must be the most desirable radio made. One million buyers think so. It will take just five minutes at our store to find out what YOU think.

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Eddie Regan, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped and gone to Virginia, where he befriends Penfield Paradine, who dies and leaves all his possessions to Eddie. Eddie had been in love with Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," but all thought of her is put out of his heart when he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. Eddie declares his love for Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Freeman dislikes Eddie, and one afternoon when Eddie is calling on Marian, Freeman comes in and insults Eddie. Marian tells Eddie it is hopeless for him to love her, and Eddie, discouraged, decides to go to Richmond. While he is there he meets Mike Arno, a former member of the gang. Arno tells him that Bernice is still in love with him (Eddie) and Eddie's thoughts once more swing to her.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXVII.

THIS seeing Mike Arno again aroused a faint melancholy in Eddie. They talked exclusively of New York—of the new shows on Broadway, the Polo Grounds, the Yankees at the Stadium, the fights at the Garden and Fugazy's outdoor shows that were giving Tex Rickard something to worry about. Once, Eddie closed his eyes and he could imagine himself riding up Broadway just before the theatre hour, the whole street gloriously ablaze. It was home . . .

"You can say what you like, but there's no place on earth like New York for guys like us," Arno said, sentimental for the moment because he was far from Manhattan. "No place like New York—never was and never will be."

Mike Arno—he was a good guy, and square as a die, according to his own standards. In the half shadows of the underworld men have reputations for good or evil, just as they have in other kinds of society. A guy might be known as a square shooter, on the up and up, or he might be a rat.

According to his code, Mike Arno would be the last man on earth to cross a friend. To a pal in distress he might not give his last dollar, but it was a cinch he'd split it. The Big Guy hadn't been that type at all. Arno had no enemies, barring, of course, the cops and some of the suckers he had deprived of their candy. It was doubtful if Arno himself felt at all dishonest about working the old confidence racket. A sucker was a sucker and born to be trimmed. If some wise bird didn't take him, another one would. For what did the lilies bloom in the field, except to be plucked?

Yes, Eddie had—always would have—a kindly feeling toward Mike Arno and square guys like him. If they weren't exactly honest in the broadest sense of the word it was because they just didn't understand the real difference between right and wrong. Their border lines were hazy. At that, fellows like Mike Arno weren't half as bad as some of the big fellows in history. Eddie remembered a lot of the stuff he had read in the "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire."

And in the midst of all this the face of Marian Thorndike came up before him and thoughts of her tried to intrude into his thinking. Resolutely he depressed the fact and closed his mind against her. The trouble with him was he had been thinking too much of her lately and he needed a respite. To think of her meant heartache and he was tired—bitterly tired, hurting inside.

Arno leaned forward toward him across the table.

"You know, Kid—I got an idea. You've been down on your plantation and you show that you've been outdoors a lot. I suppose you have picked up a lot of the lingo, too—so that if you talked about the country it would ring true."

"I could tell 'em," Eddie said. "A guy don't get these corns on his palms for nothing."

Eddie shook his head. "Nix."

"Wait. I've always worked alone because I never found the right fellow to help me out. Ninety-nine out of a hundred are rats. With you, Eddie, I could do business and feel that I wasn't going to be gypped when my back was turned. I've got something on the hook now—and there's plenty of sugar in it for two if I can pull it off O. K. I could use you fine."

"It can't be done."

"Why not?"

"It just can't be done, Mike. That stuff doesn't interest me. I've got different ideas—that's all."

Eddie was silent.

"Good girl?"

"Good as gold, Mike."

"You mean you want to marry this dame and live down here in some God-forsaken spot?"

"Something like that, Mike."

Arno shook his head sadly.

"It's a mistake, Eddie. Maybe it's all right for a guy born out in the cornfields to waste his life getting sunburned, but you belong to the asphalt, Kid. You made the switch too late in life.

"What are you going to do when night comes? You'll sit out there some place listening to the whippoorwills—you'll be sitting on the front porch in your shirt sleeves and wishing to God you was back where you could see a good show and mix around with some of the boys and girls that know what a cocktail was made for. You let one of these little corn-fed dames get her hook in you and you're gone, Kid. God! You couldn't sock me with that kind of life for a million dollars."

Eddie smiled at him. Vaguely Mike Arno's words started a little tremor of homesickness in him to see New York, but that kind of stuff was all applesauce—bunk.

"You're all wet, Mike. It's not that bad."

"You think it ain't because you're in love. Love has made a sucker out of better men than you are, Kid. On the level, you're beginning to look like a hick already."

"Yeh—and look at you," Eddie retorted. "Wasn't you telling me that you didn't have any peace of mind on earth in your racket?"

"I was exaggerating," Mike came back. "At that I bet I've got more peace of mind right now than you have. What is this country jane saying about you—has she given you the O. K.?"

The other leaned back in his chair and spread out his hands eloquently, as though he had proved his case.

"There you are! You admit yourself you are lit. Here you are—a lad that any girl ought to be glad to grab off, and she probably tells you she'll see you around sometime. You ought to have sense to know that girls either fall for a guy or they don't. There's no half-way business about it. If they won't give you a quick yes you're just wasting your time. You can break your heart over one of these corn babies and waste your life—and where are you? You're out in the woods some place listening to a dog bark at the moon. What a sap you've turned out to be, Kid!"

Eddie gritted his teeth together until there was a little bit of muscle at the corner of his jaw. He could see the years dragging slowly and painfully past. Yes, there was a whole lot in what Mike Arno said . . . he could hear that whippoorwill and he could hear too, that dog barking at the moon.

Mike Arno looked at Eddie with penetrating understanding. His words, he saw, had stirred the imagination of the exile, had aroused that faint nostalgia that every born New Yorker, when away from home, feels at times.

"You've picked the hardest game in the world to beat, Kid," Mike Arno went on in the suave, convincing manner which accounted for his success as a confidence man. "You've heard that old gag about a leopard not being able to change his spots? Well, that's what you're up against. You're a town boy, Eddie, and when the newness wears off your corn-fed doll you'll realize it. I hate to see a good guy like you let a girl make a monkey out of him."

"You can cut out panning her to me, Mike," Eddie told him, seriously. "You just don't understand."

"No? Why, you admit yourself she's got you running around in circles and she's the one that's wearing a high-hat. With your good looks, you don't have to stand that kind of treatment from any broad."

"She's not a broad!"

"Well, what of it? Even supposing she is straight—what percentage is there in that for you? Only the saps break their hearts over the frigid ones."

MAJESTIC CONTEST PASSES HALF WAY

Activity among contestants in the "Miss Majestic" popularity contest reached its highest peak Thursday as the entrants in the race turned the half-way mark in the contest period.

Many of the contestants are just beginning to seriously work in the drive and the number of votes turned in each evening have steadily increased, showing the new and enthusiastic efforts the young women are making to gain the fame of the most popular girl in Brainerd and win the grand prize offered in the contest.

Activity among the contestants is certainly at a high pitch today. Helen Sheets proved to be a real dark horse and jumped from last place to first, and it looks as though she will make it interesting for everyone. Dorothy Schrader is another who is proving her personality by going into fourth place. Betty Miller, second, and Beatrice Sheflo, a good third, are making it an interesting race.

"You know," said the contest manager at the Gateway Electric while in a meditative mood last night, "the girl who wins this contest should be a mighty proud girl. Not only will she win the title of "Miss Majestic" her own mind that she is really the and the radio, but she will know in "Miss Majestic" personality of Brainerd. Everyone of the entrants in this contest has an unusually pleasing personality and, for that reason, I have predicted this will be one of the closest contests that anyone could imagine. But it will be the girl who has just a wee bit more personality than any of the others who will win enough favor among her friends to put across the victory."

The standing today follows:

YOUTH FACES CHECK PASSING CHARGES

Donald G. Baxter, 19 years old, was in custody at Minneapolis today awaiting check passing charges to be proferred against him. He was arrested at his home in Minneapolis Wednesday on complaint of Sheriff Claus Theorin that he forged two checks for $25 and $10 in the vicinity of Brainerd recently.

Upon his arrest the youth admitted passing a check at Osseo and the two near Brainerd, Sheriff Theorin said.

Baxter is reported to have lived for a short time in Northeast Brainerd. He is accused of forging the name of Miles Guin, Jr., to a $25 check issued to George West and of issuing a similar check for $10 to Mrs. Anton Enius at her store two miles west of Brainerd.

STATE "Y" CAMP SITE PURCHASED

Purchase of property on Lake Placid south of Deerwood for the establishment of a State Y. M. C. A. Camp was approved at a meeting of the State Y. M. C. A. Camp Committee yesterday at Minneapolis, George E. Lowe, president of the Brainerd "Y," reported on his return from the meeting at Minneapolis held yesterday.

The property bought for $5,700 constitutes 150 acres with a sand beach and well timbered.

A Minneapolis man who has been prominent in Y. M. C. A. advancement and who has requested his name withheld from publication has donated $15,000 for the construction of the camp with the understanding that the Y. M. C. A. raise an equal amount.

The suggestion was also made that each Y. M. C. A. organization in the state raise sufficient funds to construct one cottage at the camp.

A landscaping engineer will be employed to plan the camp.

OF COURSE NOT! There would be too much to handle—it would get out of control. It's the same in roasting coffee. That's why Hills Bros. roast only a few pounds at a time by their continuous process—Controlled Roasting. The flavor is perfectly controlled always. The "reducing diet" that stole her beauty

SHE was one girl who was going to be slim and beautiful—so she began a strenuous reducing diet. She counted calories. She shunned this and sought for that. But, all the time, she was missing something every diet should have. In the dishes she so carefully selected there was scarcely any roughage. Constipation gained a foothold. Her looks suffered as is often the case with constipated persons. She had headaches and her complexion became sallow.

Thousands of women and men are paying the price of diets which are lacking in bulk. Constipation continues to poison the system. No other evil is more widespread. It often ends with serious trouble and disease.

By adding Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to any diet, the ideal roughage is obtained to relieve and prevent constipation.

ALL-BRAN does not add fat to the body. It just sweeps the intestines clean of poisonous wastes. Its regular use restores health and above all priceless beauty and charm.

No pills nor drugs can play the part of ALL-BRAN in a reducing diet. Their dose has to be constantly increased and they do not produce the natural results that ALL-BRAN does.

Don't trifle with pills

You will like the appetizing nut-sweet flavor of ALL-BRAN. It can be enjoyed in many ways. In soups. On salads. Soaked in orange, prune or fruit juice. As a cereal with milk or cream. Delicious with honey added. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily — in chronic cases with every meal.

If you write us we will gladly send you a valuable booklet on the subject of safe reducing. It contains many approved diet suggestions which promote beauty as they help you reduce. Grocers everywhere sell ALL-BRAN. Be sure to get the genuine—made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars.

GUARANTEED!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

HINTS ON CREDITS AND COLLECTIONS

Diplomatic Ways of Treating Slow Paying Customers Are Explained

AT BUSINESS MEN'S DINNER

Officials of More Than 30 Firms of City Participate in Association Discussions

Hints on credits and collections that will prove of value to the business man, diplomatic ways of treating the customer who is slow in paying his bills were offered by speakers experienced to offer such advice while good fellowship prevailed as one of the outstanding features of the first fall meeting of the Brainerd Business Men's Association last evening.

Officials of more than 30 business firms in the city participated at the dinner, entertainment and business discussions conducted in the Hotel Ransford's attractive dining hall.

Greater unified cooperation among the business men with their collection bureau was urged by F. M. Butler of the Commercial Service Co., St. Paul.

The necessity of credit which he said was the backbone of the nation should necessitate a closer relationship between the merchant and the bureau.

Mr. Butler explained the system in practice in St. Paul stating that business men of that city were linked in a service that rendered them almost immediate information on request as to credit and made them a powerful organization in making collections. He urged greater support of the Business Men's association in this city by the merchants.

Character, capital, and capacity for payments are the main requisites in extending credit, R. F. Vorpahl, of St. Cloud said in discussing credit.

"Check applications for credit carefully and diplomatically refuse credit when such may be the situation," he said.

Straight from the shoulder might have been the topic for the booster and yet critical short talk given by Mrs. J. H. Herbert, Northeast Brainerd.

She rapped the evils of excessive installment buying, charged that the growing generation had no conception of the value of money and for good measure scored "that monster, speed" and the increasing number of holdups and robberies in the state.

G. P. McCabe, secretary of the Brainerd Association read the minutes of the last meeting and on motion was asked to read new bylaws of the association to be voted on for passage at the next meeting.

The secretary urged that all members turn in their accounts for collection immediately before the commencement of buying of winter merchandise.

Two solos, "Trumpeter" and "Friend of Mine" were rendered by the popular baritone, Dr. G. I. Badeaux, accompanied by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland at the piano.

The prince of toastmasters, H. P. Dunn, injected a line of friendly laugh producers that added a punch inducing exhilaration to the gathering.

President of the association, Wm. Nelson, took the gavel for the closing business session.

Out of the city guests included: L. S. Ryam; George J. Johnson, G. I. Stone, Little Falls; L. E. Vorpahl, St. Cloud; F. M. Butler, St. Paul and R. E. Clark, Minneapolis.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Hotel Ransford.

LOST DUCK HUNTERS RESCUED BY POSSE

Found in Exhausted Condition in Deep Timber and Swamp Near Northern Bass Lake

MEN DRENCHED TO SKIN

Ran Out of Matches; Sedlock and Stirewalt, Crosby Men, Kill Porcupine for Food

Their clothes drenched, exhausted from exposure and hunger Art Sedlock and Louis Stirewalt, Crosby, were found by a search party at 4:30 p. m. Thursday several miles in the deep timber and swamp land adjoining Northern Bass Lake, northeast of Emily.

The two were lost while duck hunting and had wandered aimlessly about the woods in the hope of getting their direction since early Wednesday.

They soon depleted their stock of dry matches and to satisfy their hunger Wednesday they killed a porcupine. They went without food for almost 24 hours.

When the news spread that Sedlock and Stirewalt were lost, farmers, citizens from the Cuyuna Range, Emily and Brainerd formed a large posse to beat the woods for them. At noon yesterday the rescue party had reached 150 men.

The posse was divided into three groups. The one that located the men was headed by Vernon Stirewalt, brother of one of the men lost.

CARD OF THANKS

We gratefully appreciate the kind words of expressions and help given us during the illness and death of our darling baby, Betty Jane, and also for the beautiful floral tributes from relatives, friends, neighbors and St. Mary's Guild.

HARRISON DONATES 70 ACRES TO SCOUTS

Central Minnesota Area Receive a Generous Proposal in Site for Camp

SITUATED ON WILSON LAKE

Property Valued Conservatively at $4,000; Final Action on Camp in December

Through the generosity of John Harrison, Kansas City, partner to Chester Start in the Pine Beach development, the Central Minnesota Scout Area has been provided with 70 acres of fine property for the establishment of a scout camp on the southwest bay of Gull lake, called Wilson lake, being two miles from the Brainerd-Pine Beach hotel, now under construction.

The offer was made by Mr. Harrison at the quarterly meeting of the area council at Little Falls and was looked upon with great favor. Final action on the acceptance of the property will be taken at the next meeting, a special meeting to be probably held in December.

A committee consisting of S. R. Adair, Brainerd, Frank Jung, C. S. Olds, C. W. Armstrong, St. Cloud, and Wilbur J. Van Evera, Crosby, will make a personal inspection of the property with a view of accepting the proposal. They will report at the December meeting.

The value of the property as estimated by Louis Knudsen is $4,000.

The Scout Area Council has indicated that if Mr. Harrison's proposal is accepted, a Scout camp better than any in the state will be organized. The camp would house more than 80 scouts from the area, it was agreed.

The camp will be so located that scouts desiring to meet expenses by working as caddies at the Pine Beach course can do so.

The work of caddying at the course, however, will not interfere with their scout activities.

"The generosity of Mr. Harrison in making the donation of a site free to the general council is greatly appreciated by all interested in permanent scouting," said Mr. Adair today. "Mr. Harrison has always been a great advocate for scouting and has aided the Brainerd scouts and the Kansas City scouts in the past."

The property has approximately 1,500 feet of shore line, a sloping sand beach. The land is well timbered, with a natural spring for drinking water.

BETTY CROCKER TO RETURN TO "MIKE"

Well Known Exponent of Culinary Art to Start Year of Broadcasting October 1

Music will be a part of Betty Crocker's semi-weekly radio cooking school and home service program for the first time this year. The gay little melody of "Highways are Happy Ways When They Lead to Home Sweet Home" will announce Betty Crocker, Tuesday, October 1, when she returns to the mike to begin her fifth year of national broadcasting of culinary first aid, and these same strains will herald her coming every Tuesday and Thursday morning during the season over WCCO.

This song was chosen last spring by Betty Crocker's listeners when they were given an opportunity to vote on whether they would like music introduced into these cooking school hours and what they felt would be most appropriate. Home Sweet Home, which will be heard as Betty Crocker concludes her programs, was another choice of her listeners.

Betty Crocker enjoys the distinction of being the first to give a women's service program over the air back in 1924 when the radio still was very new. This first cooking school over the air was so warmly welcomed by the thousands of women who listened to her through one middle-western station, that she was urged to make her lessons available to a larger group through the national hook-up. For four years her audience has included hundreds of thousands of women in almost every state, who regard her as their friend and culinary mentor. She will have a still larger audience this year when the listeners of five southwest stations previously not on the network, the complete Pacific coast network, including three new northwest stations, and four new stations in the southeast, will be given their first opportunity to listen to her programs. These talks will be broadcast this season from a total of 36 stations, covering the entire country.

Another innovation which Betty Crocker plans to introduce into her programs this year is the Tuesday morning talk on meal planning and menu building. These talks are planned as an answer to the hundreds of letters she receives every month from women asking her help in preparing attractive, wholesome meals that will not cost too much or take too much time to prepare. She also will suggest interesting "company" menus for all occasions—for children's and adults' parties, for special holiday parties, for club meetings and cozy Sunday night suppers.

Her Thursday programs will be the cooking school lessons, in which she will explain the fundamental principles of baking such delicious cakes, biscuits, pies, breads and cookies that they will make any home a happy one. She will illustrate these principles with new and unusual recipes that are not too difficult and not too expensive.

She will broadcast Tuesday and Thursday mornings this year, rather than the days used last year, at 10:45 eastern standard time, 9:45 central time and 9:45 Pacific time, from 36 stations.

WADENA-BRAINERD PLAY ON WET FIELD

With rain falling intermittently, Brainerd and Wadena high schools met this afternoon in Brainerd's second conference football clash of the season. The game was the first played on home grounds at the municipal field this afternoon. The opening whistle was sounded at 3:30 o'clock.

The locals will find stiff competition in Wadena. The visitors are hard hitters with a strength greater than Staples.

Jack Stuart Knapp Demonstrates Value of Makeup to Lions at Meeting Wednesday Evening

A four day dramatic school for club leaders throughout the county with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stuart Knapp of the National Playgrounds Association of New York instructors, came to a close Thursday afternoon in the farmer's room of the court house when the leaders were divided in three groups to present original stunts.

The stunts were followed by a social time during which Mr. and Mrs. Knapp were extended expressions of appreciation for their work here.

The dramatic school was conducted under auspices of County Agent E. G. Roth for leaders of 4-H clubs, Farm Dairy Units, P. T. A.'s for their benefit in learning how to stage plays, stunts, programs and amateur dramatics.

Mr. Knapp was the speaker at Wednesday evening's Lions club meeting. He explained the work of a director and demonstrated the possibilities of makeup using different members of the club as models.
